Disclosures of Interest

The ultimate owner of James McMullan & Son is Andrew and Noleen McMullan.

James McMullan & Son have no business or material financial interest in any price comparison website.

There has been no material charitable donation to a third party. We will occasionally make charitable donations in excess of £250 to organisations, charities and individuals. These financial transactions will be held in a register at our premises.

There has been no charitable contribution or payment of a gratuity to a third party connected to the funerals sector.

There has been no material form of payment which does not relate to a cost incurred or a service provided by the third party on behalf of or to James McMullan & Son.

Payment Terms

Disbursements may be required to be paid for in advance where agreed.

We reserve the right to ask for full payment in advance before providing any of our services.

Final Account invoices will normally be sent within 14 days after the date of the funeral and are due for payment within 30 days of our invoice, unless otherwise agreed by us in writing.

If you do not make payment to us by the due date, we may charge you interest on the overdue sum at the rate of 2.5% per month and any associated debt recovery costs where applicable. Interest will accrue on a daily basis from the due date for payment until the actual date of payment of the overdue sum, whether before or after judgment. You must pay any interest due when paying an overdue sum. We may recover the cost of taking legal action to enforce payment.
